

PEST CONTROL REGISTRATION VICTORIA

PEST CONTROL BUSINESS REGISTRATION NO LONGER APPLICABLE

For many years prior to January 2002, pest control businesses were required to be registered with the Victorian Department of Human Services.

In June 2001 amendments were made to the Health Act 1958 as a result of the National Competition Policy review of the Act.

One of these amendments was the repeal of the requirement for pest control businesses to be registered, effective from 1st January 2002.

TECHNICIANS LICENCES

Whilst business registration is no longer applicable in Victoria, individual technicians are required to be licensed by the Victorian Department of Human Services.

We have more than thirty technicians at Adams. In theory, any one of these may be required to attend your premises in an emergency, although we do manage to achieve a high level of continuity in attendance.

As it is impractical to supply copies of numerous licences, I give you my assurance that only appropriately licensed technicians will visit your premises.
